FREEZER COOKING WITH GOOD CHEAP EATS

This meal plan features recipes from the cookbook Good Cheap Eats Dinner in 30 Minutes (or Less!).

You'll need the cookbook in order to complete this freezer cooking plan.

All the meals in the book are quick to prepare, but there are nights when you want it done already. This freezer meal plan can make that happen.

You might spend more than 30 minutes for this cooking plan, but remember, you're going to create 12 meals. It would take 6 hours to make all 12 meals on 12 different nights.

PREP LIST

Chop onions, scallions, peppers, zucchini, carrots, celery, and garlic.
Shred cheese if not already purchased shredded.

COOKING PLAN

- Assemble the chili. Set the timer for 20 minutes. When the timer rings, remove it from the heat and allow it to cool.
- Preheat the oven to 375°F and line a baking sheet with aluminum foil. Spray the foil with nonstick cooking spray. Prepare the Teriyaki Meatballs with half of the ground turkey. Form 48 meatballs with the meat mixture and place them on the baking sheet. Bake for 15–20 minutes or until cooked through. When the timer rings, remove them from the oven and allow them to cool.
- 3 Use the remaining 2 1/2 pounds of ground turkey to prepare the meatloaf. You won't be baking the meatloaf. Once the loaves are formed, wrap each one in aluminum foil and place the wrapped loaf in a ziptop freezer bag. Label with the date, contents, and baking instructions.

[MEATLOAVES DONE]

The chili should be cooled now. Divide it into labeled, meal- or individual- sized containers and chill in the fridge until thoroughly cold. Once cold, store in the freezer.

[CHILI DONE]

The meatballs should be cool. Divide them into labeled zip-top bags and chill thoroughly before storing in the freezer.

IMEATBALLS DONE!

- Wash the pots that the chili was cooked in and start the ragu cooking. Set a timer for 15 minutes. When the timer rings, remove it from the heat and allow it to cool.
- While the ragu is cooking, start frying the tortillas for the enchiladas. Assemble the enchiladas in the 9x13-inch pans, but do not bake them. Cover, label, and chill in the fridge before storing in the freezer.

[ENCHILADAS DONE]

- Assemble the burritos. Place in zip-top freezer bags and store in the freezer, assuming your beans were cold when you assembled the burritos. [BURRITOS DONE]
- The ragu should be cooled now. Divide it into labeled, meal-sized containers and chill in the fridge until thoroughly cold. Once cold, store in the freezer.

[RAGU DONE]

All your cooking is complete! Wash dishes and wipe down the counters. Be sure to transfer items from the fridge to the freezer once they are completely cold.
